NELSON HARDIMAN
HEALTHCARE LAWYERS

Alternative Dispute Resolution

Nelson Hardiman has successfully represented healthcare facilities, providers, professionals, life sciences and technology businesses in arbitrations. Our lawyers are well practiced in the different models of alternative dispute resolution (ADR) in healthcare, and employ ADR as the first line of defense to resolve claims effectively.

Because we know the healthcare system and the laws, regulations and agency guidelines that govern healthcare entities, we leverage arbitration and mediation to help our clients resolve claims fairly and cost-effectively. We also handle subsequent litigation that may arise in federal or state courts in the United States in enforcing arbitral awards or pursuing other lines of defense, contributing to the overall acceptance of ADR by the healthcare industry.