Business & Commercial

Nelson Hardiman's team of seasoned litigators and former federal prosecutors zealously protect healthcare and life sciences entities and individuals threatened by business litigation and commercial disputes. We harness our in-depth knowledge of the healthcare industry and related business operations to align our winning litigation strategies with your business objectives.

Recognized leaders in healthcare law, we blend our national reputation for business expertise and deep experience with underlying regulatory issues to tackle the most complex issues in healthcare. We defend mergers and acquisitions, and litigate contract, operational and intellectual property disputes. We channel our passion and focus for healthcare and life sciences to fiercely defend our clients' business interests. We fight to win.