State Regulations

From its base in Southern California, Nelson Hardiman leverages our extensive knowledge of California healthcare laws to advise national and California-based hospitals, health systems and other healthcare providers statewide. The firm's Los Angeles office gives Nelson Hardiman a strong local presence while operating on a national level.

Our healthcare attorneys provide unmatched legal counsel on all areas of California law and regulations affecting healthcare, including California-specific requirements such as the corporate practice of medicine and the Knox-Keene Act. Recognized for our premiere, cutting-edge healthcare experience, we deliver a formidable combination of strategic thinking and litigation and transactional know-how, frequently working with state and local government to shape the path of healthcare law in California.