

The Four Buckets that Comprise Life Sciences Investing

Nelson Hardiman managing partner Harry Nelson presented at the 13th Annual Family Office Investment Symposium where he discussed the four main buckets of potential life sciences investing, including 1) pharma/biotech, 2) medical devices, 3) neutraceuticals, supplements, and cosmeceuticals, and 4) clinical research and technology transfer.