PROFILE

Jonathan Stieglitz is a leader of Nelson Hardiman's medical reimbursement practice group. Jonathan's practice focuses on recovering under- or unreimbursed medical claims, representing parties including hospital systems, surgery centers, physicians and related healthcare practitioners and facilities. Serving as a trusted advisor and outside general counsel to his clients, Jonathan proactively identifies best practices for obtaining further payments from payors of insurance on those underpaid or unpaid claims.

Jonathan is well-versed in matters relating to claims reimbursement, medical compliance, HIPAA, and ERISA. Jonathan's practice covers both litigation and non-litigation matters, offering a wide array of services to his clients.

Collaborative Litigator

Jonathan's collaborative approach to litigation, even with opposing counsel, leads to decisive victories and ongoing business relationships even within the context of litigation and as a result, cost-effective resolutions for his medical provider clients.

Bottom Line Success

Jonathan blends his legal acumen with a strong knowledge of healthcare finance to strengthen the bargaining power of hospitals, surgery centers, and other medical providers. He works closely with insurers and other payers on payment reimbursements to level the playing field while fostering good relations between all parties. Jonathan understands the concerns of providers and payors and helps his healthcare clients overcome reimbursement challenges and stay in business.

Life Outside the Firm

In those very brief moments when Jonathan is not working on his client's matters, Jonathan enjoys reading historical fiction and playing competitive softball and basketball.
